

Users cannot delete accounts they would have to contact JobSeekr Admin support via email for account deletions.

When you click your account name in the top right corner of the screen a drop down menu appears with items: profile – where they can edit their info as well as do CV uploads, applications - where they can view their applications and how they stand with prospective employers, and a log out button.

The message icon is where Job Seekers can interact with employers if they've been contacted

The JobSeekr Icon in the top right corner will take users to the home page where they can interact with the swipe interface to apply for jobs

(Other questions)

Users can click on their profile to update details, change passwords, or upload a new CV.

The applications tab shows all job applications and their current status.

Clicking the message icon opens all chats from employers and shows unread messages.

The top right icons remain visible on every page for quick access.

If the dropdown menu closes, clicking the account name again will reopen it.

Clicking outside the dropdown will close it automatically.

The JobSeekr icon always takes users back to the home page from anywhere in the app.

Users can refresh the page to see new updates or messages.

The profile section also allows users to change their email or phone number.

Saved or liked jobs can be found from the home screen or swipe section.

The navigation bar at the top helps users move easily between sections.

If users forget to log out, the session stays active for a period of time then the token resets for safety issues and they must re-login

To exit the app safely, users can log out or close the browser tab.

Support can be contacted through email to the admins for help with account-related issues.
